Welcome

This issue's welcome is from our Medical Director, Dr Matthias Hohmann. Responsible for leading our team of Doctors, Matthias works closely with health and care professionals across Oldham and Greater Manchester.

What a year it has been so far! I am always proud of our Hospice and our amazing staff, volunteers and supporters, but 2026 has felt even more special.

We kicked off the year with our first-ever Hartley's Hero Walk at Boundary Park. Here, our beloved mascot welcomed 149 mini heroes to raise an incredible £15,000 for Dr Kershaw's Hospice and Oldham Athletic Community Trust.

Our work in the community continued via our partnership with the Shree Swaminarayan Mandir Hindu temple. And we were thrilled to be nominated in the Heart of the High Street category at the Oldham Business Awards.

Excitingly, we have also launched our Green Plan, which will help us to reduce our carbon footprint and make our Hospice more sustainable for future generations.

Speaking of greenery, we have a spectacular new addition to our gardens. Our innovative modular build, titled the Roger Tanner Building, will house wellbeing activities, events and much more.

As always, thank you so much for your support. Even by reading this magazine, you are helping to raise awareness of the vital work we do. End-of-life care should be accessible to everyone, and with your help, we can reach more people when they need us the most.

We hope you enjoy this issue. Don't forget that you can also sign up to our email newsletter for more stories and updates.

Dr Matthias Hohmann, Medical Director

When funding runs out, your support steps in

If we relied solely on the funding we received on 1st April 2026, it would have run out by the end of June. Everything that follows is made possible by our community

This financial year, it will cost almost £5.8 million to provide the specialist care and support that local patients and families rely on from Dr Kershaw's Hospice.

While NHS funding remains an important contribution towards our services, it covers only a fraction of what it costs to keep our Hospice running. This means the remaining months of care are funded through the generosity of you, our supporters.

Every donation, fundraising event, Lottery membership and gift in a Will helps us continue providing compassionate care to people facing serious and life-limiting illnesses. Your support also enables us to be there for their families and loved ones during some of life's most difficult moments.

We are incredibly grateful to our local community for standing alongside us. Quite simply, we could not deliver our vital services without your support.

To help ensure the continuity of our care, please consider making a donation at drkh.org.uk/donate

“We could just be a family again”

When David Parker was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer, his family knew they wanted him at home, surrounded by love. With support from our Caring Hands and Hospice at Home teams, his wife and daughter, Vicky Dawson, were able to step back from caring to cherish their final moments together

Dad was the kindest man anyone could meet. He would never want anybody to go without, and you could always rely on him. He was our constant.

In his younger days, Dad joined the Merchant Navy and then worked as a chef on the dining cars for British Rail, where he met Mum. They had myself, and then became grandparents to my son, Ben.

Dad brought laughter wherever he went. He loved a bit of banter and making people smile. Later, he worked as a porter at Manchester Royal Infirmary, where he was loved by patients for his humour and kindness.

At home, he was always fixing things. Nothing was ever thrown away ‘just in case’. If something needed repairing, Dad would find a way. He took great pride in maintaining our home and loved tinkering around.

I remember once when I came home from school, I told Dad that my feet were freezing. The next morning, my shoes were waiting in front of the fire with carpet inside to keep them warm. I was given the most caring and loving childhood.

In January 2024, after battling COPD and long-term illness caused by COVID-19, he was admitted to hospital feeling increasingly unwell. Shortly after, he was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer and things changed very quickly.

Dad didn't want to talk about his diagnosis and we respected this. Our focus became making sure he felt safe, comfortable and never alone, as he was always frightened of being by himself.

Mum and I had cared for Dad at home for the last four years, but as his condition worsened, we knew we needed more support. That's when Dr Kershaw's Hospice came into our lives.

From the very first visit, the Caring Hands team was incredible. They came four times a day, bringing not just care but reassurance and comfort. Dad loved having them there and would often ask, “What time are the girls coming?”.

He was treated with such compassion, as if he were their own dad or grandad.”

In Dad's final two weeks, the Caring Hands and Hospice at Home teams became part of our family. They were there day and night, always just a phone call away. No matter how many times we called – even in the middle of the night – they came without hesitation, and never once made us feel like a burden.

Dad was frightened and anxious, but the team reassured him. They also explained everything to me so that I could support Mum, as she was finding it difficult to accept. He was treated with such compassion, as if he were their own dad or grandad.

Because of them, we could step back from being carers and just be a family again. We spent quality time together.

I would lie next to Dad, while Mum sat nearby doing a crossword or watching TV. Those moments together mean everything to us now.

Having the support from Hospice at Home was incredible. Dad was able to stay at home, just as he wanted, surrounded by the people who loved him.

I even lay with Dad the morning he passed. This was a privilege, of course, but a part of me left with him too.

To say thank you doesn't feel enough. We will never truly be able to find the words or show enough gratitude for the difference Dr Kershaw's Hospice made for our family during the most heartbreaking time.

We will be forever grateful.

Those moments together mean everything to us now.”

Make a Will Make a Difference

Due to popular demand, our partnered Will-writing service is now available throughout the year. For a reduced fee, you can create your Will with a local solicitor of your choice at a time that suits you Get peace of mind whilst supporting our vital work by making a Will with one of our trusted solicitor partners. In return for a donation to Dr Kershaw's Hospice, they will help you to write or update your Will.

How it works

- 1 Visit drkh.org.uk/make-a-will and choose your preferred solicitor
- 2 Contact the solicitor to make your appointment, quoting Dr Kershaw's
- 3 Make a donation to our Hospice directly with your solicitor
The suggested donation is £150 for a Simple Individual Will and £200 for a Simple Mirror Will for a couple, offering a substantial saving.

Why make a Will?

Making a Will is your way of telling everyone what should happen to your money, possessions and even who should care for your children or pets.

By taking part, you will also be raising much-needed funds to ensure people die with dignity.

Leave a Legacy

While making a Will, you could do something amazing by leaving a legacy to Dr Kershaw's. This can also provide significant tax benefits. Speak to your chosen solicitor for more details.

“Even 1% of your Will would make a real difference. It would help the Hospice to continue to provide special care and precious memories for future patients and families – just like we had.”

Behind the badge

We are proud to invest in our people, and that is thanks in no small part to our wonderful End-of-Life Nurse Educator, Sarah Longmore. Her expertise and passion help our clinical team deliver the best care

As a former Sister on the Critical Care Unit at the Royal Oldham Hospital, Sarah was looking for a meaningful career that would fit around her two children. So when an exciting role came up over five years ago, she jumped at the chance!

Can we have an overview of your role?

I am responsible for clinical training. I am based on the Inpatient Unit, so I am still able to get involved with clinical practice when my schedule allows.

Plus I deliver, arrange and manage the mandatory training for the whole workforce. And as part of the Senior Management Team, I am involved in service improvement and development.

What do you enjoy about your job?

I am passionate about ensuring that patients and their loved ones have the best experience possible, and I believe promoting confidence, knowledge and skills within our clinical team contributes to this.

What is your favourite thing about working here?

My colleagues. Each day is different and we will all help each other across all departments to ensure a patient's wishes are met. It is such a positive environment, despite the nature of our work.

What would be your advice to anyone applying?

Do it! Don't be afraid, it is in no way doom and gloom. Everyone has a really positive attitude, which contributes to the lovely environment we work in and enables us to deliver the fantastic care we do.

Wellbeing Matters

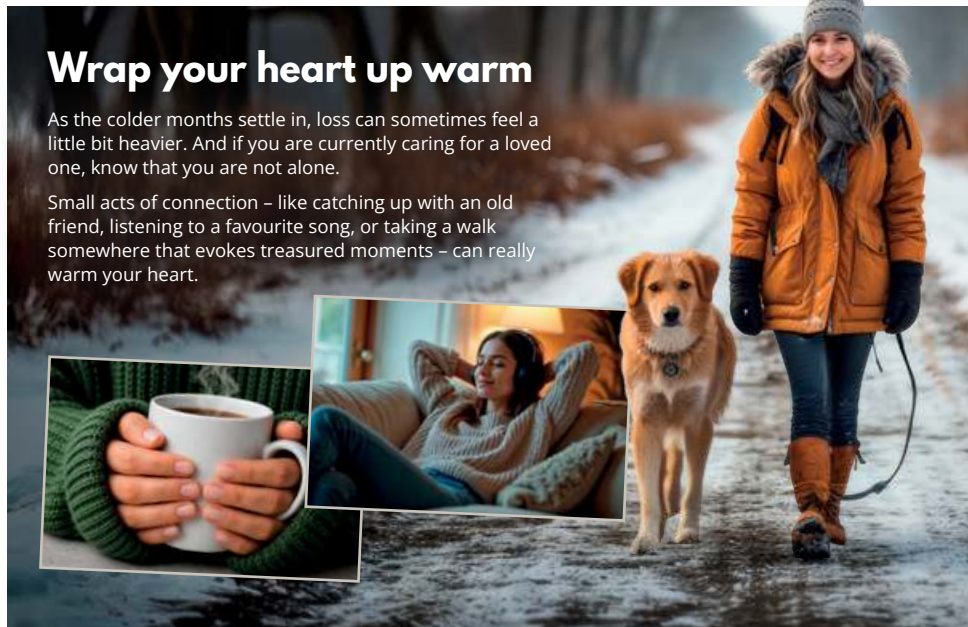

For those whose lives have been touched by hospice care, wellbeing can be especially important. Our Counsellor, Katie Stretton, is here to help you on your journey

Wrap your heart up warm

As the colder months settle in, loss can sometimes feel a little bit heavier. And if you are currently caring for a loved one, know that you are not alone.

Small acts of connection – like catching up with an old friend, listening to a favourite song, or taking a walk somewhere that evokes treasured moments – can really warm your heart.

Linking to our past

One of our sessions for this year's The Nightbird Project has got me thinking about heirlooms, traditions and connections.

Jewellery passed down from generations can highlight shared links and bring back memories. Why not revisit your collection or make your own with family?

Eco-friendly modular building opens

A new chapter has begun with the opening of our new cutting-edge facility.

Since wowing crowds at Rose to Remember, the Roger Tanner Building has already become a vibrant hub for wellbeing services, activities and community events.

Designed to be sustainable and accessible, it includes counselling rooms and a large open space with beautiful views of the gardens.

Every little detail has been considered to make the building comfortable for people living with dementia.

This includes a calming colour scheme, LED lighting and temperature sensitive air conditioning.

In line with our Green Plan, these features also help to reduce energy costs and protect the environment.

Externally, we have used reclaimed bricks for the glasshouse, funded by Hartley Botanic and The Roger Tanner Trust, and salvaged railway sleepers for the planters. We have also been busy growing fruit and vegetables for our Café K!

Amazon Wishlist donations deliver joy

Donations via our Amazon Wishlist are helping to bring comfort to our patients.

Since its launch last year, kind-hearted donors have ordered everything from jigsaws to office supplies and seeds for the garden.

By reducing running costs, this enables our Hospice to create special moments and meaningful experiences for patients and service users.

Leanne Gurney, Quality Lead, said: "We have already received over £3,000 worth of items. Each donation helps us to provide the best care and comfort for our patients and their loved ones. Thank you."
